

phone: +1 310-378.1078 • email: info@HYPERIUMconservatory.com

AMY GOLLINS

oboe, English horn

Amy Gollins is an oboe and English horn player from Mount Prospect, Illinois. She is currently the second oboist with the American Youth Symphony in Los Angeles. Amy is currently at The University of Southern California pursuing her Doctor of Musical Arts degree, studying oboe with Dr. Joel Timm. She received her Master's degree and Graduate Performance Diploma in oboe performance from The Boston Conservatory where she studied oboe and English horn with Robert Sheena, English horn, of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. She has toured South Africa, and recently, Vienna, Prague, and Budapest with the Lehigh University Philharmonic in 2010. Past teachers include David Diggs, a New York recording artist and Pedro Diaz of the Metropolitan Opera. Amy received her Bachelor's degree in Music Performance from Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.